

Sexual Assault Services Of Calhoun County
in collaboration with the Calhoun County
Sexual Assault & Domestic Violence Coordinating Council &
the Calhoun County Prosecutor's Office Victim's Unit Presents:

“Working to End Sexual Violence in our Community”

Burnham Brook Center, Battle Creek

April 15, 2009

Afternoon Session: 1-4 p.m.
Burnham Brook Valentine Room
Understanding Effects of Sexual Abuse

Join us for an afternoon of community education and learn what you can do to help assist survivors of sexual assault, and prevent further victimization of our loved ones.

Tom Cottrell, M.S.W., L.M.S.W., A.C.S.W.

Tom Cottrell is the vice president of counseling services at the YWCA West Central Michigan. Tom will present about his experiences working with sexual assault survivors of all ages, and the dynamics of understanding and working with offenders within our communities.

Survivor Speaker Panel

A group of survivors will speak of their experiences. Their stories are shared to inspire each of us to break the silence about sexual assault and abuse. They have made a difference, and so can you!

Evening program: 6-8 p.m.
Burnham Brook Cafeteria

An inspirational keynote address by Judge Amy Krause followed by highlights of community achievements, including awards for outstanding work by Professionals and Volunteers in Calhoun County who fight sexual violence every day.

Judge Amy Krause

Keynote Speaker
Evening Session (6-8 pm)

Judge Krause is the current chair of the Michigan Domestic Violence Prevention and Treatment Board, and is Judge in District Court 54-A. As a former prosecutor, she tried the first marital rape case in Michigan.
